Specifically, his research focuses on water insecurity and community (i.e. resident and NGO) responses and contributions in Durban, South Africa. Alex is also a graduate researcher with the York Centre for International and Security Studies. He holds a BAH in Geography from Queen's University, where he was awarded the Richard I. Ruggles Scholarship in 2010.

Along with his own MA research, Alex will be working on the project "Climate Justice and Water Management in Durban, Maputo and Nairobi," headed by Dr. Patricia Perkins. As a junior fellow with IRIS, Alex wrote blogs while completing his fieldwork in Durban from June-August, 2011, just months prior to the 17th annual Conference of the Parties, held in Durban.
