

Dr. Eugenia Flora Rosa Cossa

Dean, Faculty of Education
Eduardo Mondlane University
Maputo, Mozambique

PhD University of the Western Cape, MSc (Science Education – Biology Education) University of Witwatersrand, Certified Teacher for Biology (Licentiate) Rostock University, Teacher (Biology and Chemistry for Junior Secondary School) Eduardo Mondlane University

Email: eugenia.cossa@uem.mz

Areas of Academic Interest

- Science Education (Biology)
- Science, Technology, and Society
- Higher Education Institutions (HEI) and Teacher Training (INSET)
- Violence against girls in schools

After teaching at secondary school for several years, Dr. Cossa began her career at Eduardo Mondlane University in 1993, teaching Basic Biology, Botany and Plant Physiology at the Faculty of Science. Since 2001, she has been lecturer at the Faculty of Education of the Eduardo Mondlane Masters Programme at the Department of Natural Science and Mathematics Education.

Dr. Cossa is also leading and co-coordinating projects and various research activities within the Faculty of Education and other institutions. She is an active member of several academic associations: SAARMSTE (South African Association for Research in Mathematics, Science and Technology Education); FAWE (Forum for African Women Educationalists); IFUW (International Federation of University Women); REDES (Girls in Development, Education and Health); ONP (National Teacher Organization); NUMAC (Academic Nucleus for Mozambican Women); and AMIEMAC (Mozambican Association for Educational Investigation in Mathematics and Natural Science).