

Professor Elijah Njuguna Ndegwa

Department of Urban and Regional Planning
University of Nairobi

Ph.D. (Nottingham University, UK), M.A. (Planning), Nairobi University, B.A. University of East Africa) and

Diploma in Urban and Regional Planning, University of Nairobi

Email: elinden2000@yahoo.com

Areas of Academic Interest

- Policy Analysis and Implementation
- Regional/District Planning
- Land and Ethnic Conflicts
- Ethnicity and Regional Development

Areas of Specialization

- Regional development
- Theory and techniques
- Regional/ sub-national development planning and development
- Participatory methodologies in development planning and practice
- Human settlements planning development and management

Publications (25 Records)

Ndegwa E.N. (2001) Framework for Infrastructure Data Analysis. A paper Presented at the Training Workshop on District Planning and Plan Preparation in Kenya held at Nyahururu Lodge. Kenya from - 2001

Ndegwa E.N. (2001) Framework for Human Settlements Data Analysis. A paper Presented at the Training Workshop on District Planning and Plan Preparation in Kenya held at Nyahururu Lodge. Kenya from 26 February-2 March 2001. - 2001

Regional Planning in Kenya. Moving into the 21 St. Century A paper prepared for Environment 2000:Conference on Kenya's State of the Environment. Nairobi, Kenya. 23 rd.-27 'October 1990.Conference on Kenya's State of the Environment. Nairobi, Kenya. 23 rd.-27 'October 1990. - 2000